NEWS UPDATE!! September 4, 1998

BCLSS goes on the Road! And we'd love to come visit you!

In order to put faces to the names in our network, BCLSS would like to send BCLSS representatives Jill Savege and Michelle Boshard to visit you and your group. We'd like to drop in on one of your meetings to exchange information and listen to what's up in your neck of the woods! This will allow us to perform better at providing information for your group, and give you the personalized attention you deserve. Our "road trip" (as we're calling it) is happening throughout September and October, and will probably cover most of the province. Please call us if you're interested so we can set up a time to meet!

Another reason we'd like to visit you is that we'd like to share with you what BCLSS projects are going on, and to see if there's a project you would like to start or partner on. During our road trip, we will be working with the member groups who are partnering together to produce a Non-Point Source Pollution Educational Display for the 10th Annual Science and Technology Week in October. The portable display will include the lake experiences of the partners, and will be available to those partners after S&T Week is over as an educational and promotional display. This is an example of the type of project the BCLSS would help you get going in your area. If you have ideas for projects you'd like BCLSS help with, please contact us on our toll free line at 1 877 BC LAKES.

AND GUESS WHAT ELSE!! The BCLSS has funding from Ministry of Environment in Victoria to do baseline monitoring sample analysis... while we're on the road visiting you, we'd like to do some samples and return the results to you. We'd also like to help you set up a lake monitoring program tailored for you and your lake. We look forward to hearing from you soon!!
